

Questions for Medical Students Interviewing for Residency

Are you a medical student concerned about the management of the residency program you applied to? If so, feel free to use these questions during your interviews to learn a little more about your programs.

- Are the faculty employed by the hospital/medical school/a group?
  - Which type of group?
  - Do the faculty have incentives built around their teaching scores?

- Is there a particular type of post-residency practice you try and direct your graduates into?
  - How do they get educated as to the various post-residency options?

- What type of position do most residents go to after they complete training?
  - If mostly non-academic, need to follow up with: Do they go to work for physician owned groups or large companies?

- Is the residency sponsored by any entity other than Medicare?
  - If so, by whom?
  - If a large amount is sponsored by an entity other than Medicare, need to follow up with, does this sponsor affect my education in any way?
  - Have there been any issues with this sponsor in relation to this residency program in the past?
  - Would this entity sponsoring my training bias me in any way?
